

the fact that this is the Lenten season, this popular matron is being feted constantly. There is scarcely a luncheon or dinner she will eat privately for some time to come. And it is not at all surprising for those who know her most intimately say that her splendid gowns are not to be compared with her goodness of heart and sweetness of manner—that she has a most lovable nature. It is especially becoming to Mrs. Robinson's blonde beauty, and she does not lose sight of this fact in choosing her wardrobe. At Mrs. Irwin's informal tea a day or two ago she appeared in a handsome gray gown with garniture of pink.

Still another pretty gown is of gray crepe de chine, the bodice and skirt of which are elaborately trimmed with white lace embroidered in steel spangles, graduated in size. There is a deep yoke in the skirt of this trimming and wide flaring flounce of it about the feet.

Perhaps the most artistic and strikingly original gown is of shimmering panne satin of a pale blue-gray tint. The bodice, yoke of skirt and trailing flounce have rare white lace inserted in a rose pattern and each petal and flower outlined in "opalites," the French would call them, but in the average American they would be lusterless grey sequins. The Worth creation which Mrs. Robinson graced at the mt-careme ball last week was greatly admired. The escorial lace overskirt of black and white is especially woven to produce panel effects. Under the lace is a skirt of white satin with white chiffon flounces, edged with black tulle ruchings at the bottom. The bodice is of the lace over white satin, with a garniture of turquoise blue panne velvet. There are shoulder straps and girdle of rhinestone trelia work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Montrose Graham gave a most delightful dinner on last Friday evening to Miss Maud Gillet and Mr. Archibald Young. Besides the guests of honor and the host and hostess, there were present Dr. and Mrs. McGrew, Mr. A. Young, Sr., Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mr. Tarn McGrew, Miss C. Crossen and Mr. B. G. Holt. After the dinner a few of the friends of Miss Gillet and Mr. Young joined the party, and an enjoyable informal dance was kept up until a late hour.

Unless their plans are changed, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Warren and the Misses Warren will leave Honolulu in the steamship China for the coast and thence return to their home in Chicago. During their stay of nearly a year in Honolulu the Warrens have made their home in the Snow cottage at the Hawaiian hotel, and they will be much missed. Mrs. Warren has come to Honolulu several times for the benefit of her health and enjoys the climate. Miss Marcia Warren has been much in society and her departure will be regretted.

The eight officers of the Twentieth Infantry who came to Honolulu in the transport Egbert gave a very pretty party at Progress hall last Saturday night. The hall was beautifully decorated and the music very good. These young men have served three years in the Philippines. The guests were received by Lieutenants Wilson and Craile, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Green and Miss Girard. Everyone united in saying it was one of the most delightful parties of the season.

The reception given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. C. H. Dickey in honor of Miss Alexander of Oakland, was one of the large events of the week. It was a pretty affair. The parlors of the residence were decorated with red, carnations, white lilies and potted plants. The refreshments were served on the lanai, which was tastefully decorated with palms, flowers and ferns. Mrs. Dickey received in a handsome black grenadine and Miss Alexander wore a plum-colored dress. The guests were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Grace Waterhouse, Miss Belle Dickey, Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. Arthur B. Wood, Mrs. C. W. Dickey, Miss Katherine Graydon, Mrs. Arthur B. Wood, Miss Alexander, Mrs. C. Alexander, Miss Agnes Alexander. The list of guests present is as follows: Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. Frank C. Atherton, Mrs. Cornelia B. Damon, Mrs. R. P. Princess Kalanikouli is receiving as usual at Pualelani on Tuesdays.

The largest and most elaborate functions of the week were the reception on Tuesday afternoon and the dinner and dance the evening before, given by Princess Kawanakoa. The fashionable of the city were present on both occasions. The dinner and dance were given on Monday evening at the Moana hotel in honor of the debut of Miss Alice Campbell. The private dining room was used by the hostess for the dinner, covers being laid for twenty-six. The rooms were appropriately decorated in shades of green in honor of Ireland's patron saint. Probably the most attractive of the table decorations was the beautiful and massive silver stand which once graced the banquet table of King Kamehameha. This was the center piece, the basket of which was filled with maiden-hair fern. From it were trailed nine green ribbons which ended in bows on smaller silver stands at opposite ends of the table. A cordon of male went around the table and beyond this was a circle of incandescent lights shaded with pale green. From the central archway just over the tables was a handsome silk flag caught up in the center with green ribbons. It was a merry gathering and many toasts were drunk to the debutante and the inspiring strains of native Hawaiian melodies played and sung by a Hawaiian quintet club. Following the dinner the guests repaired to the reception parlor of the hotel, where they were joined by other guests bidden to the dance, and for two hours more all courted Teryschore. The floor was covered with a canvas and upon the walls were two royal Hawaiian flags with the royal coat of arms emblazoned thereon. Champagne and light refreshments were served in the hallway leading to the parlor, and there a beautiful birthday cake studded with green candles was displayed in honor of Miss Campbell. The Princess Kawanakoa, Miss Campbell and Mrs. Samuel Parker.

Mrs. C. A. Hutchins and Miss Laura Hutchins, mother and sister of Captain J. Hutchins, are expected on the Ventura. They will stay at the Moana hotel.

On Tuesday afternoon the largest reception of the present year was given at Pualelani, Waikiki, by Princess Kawanakoa, who was assisted by her former schoolmates at the convent of San Jose, Miss Campbell, Miss Irene Dickson, Miss Chrysal and Miss Rose Cunha. The guests were ushered from Kaplan's old drawing room by the receiving party in the lanai reception hall. All were bidden a cordial welcome to Pualelani and an excellent opportunity was given them to wander about the rooms and conservatories filled with interesting things. The Princess wore a beautiful gown, in princess. The affair was from 3:30 to 6.

The dancing party given Monday evening by Mrs. Mary Mott-Smith Bird was a pretty function and thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of friends. The grounds and driveway were decorated with Chinese lanterns, producing a gay effect. Three rooms were thrown open for dancing and these were trimmed with potted plants, cocoons, and garlands, the latter apropos of the color most significant for the day, St. Patrick's. The studio was banked with pretty island blossoms, the gifts of friends. The Hawaiian Quintet Club excelled themselves in their musical solos and the piano, and the latter was served on the lanai and provided a constant attraction. Dainty refreshments were served on individual tables scattered about the lawn, charming retreats which were often sought between dances. The hostess wore a simple white dress with green ribbons and malle luma fastened in the skirt. Mrs. Bird was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Benson and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith in receiving the guests. The invited guests were Governor and Mrs. Dole, Mrs. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Babbitt, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. A. M. Turner, Mrs. J. H. In honor of the opening of the new Hackfeld building, and as a fitting close to a eventful day, a dance was given at 9 o'clock last evening for the personal friends of the members of the firm and the clerical force, in the large colonnade room in the end opposite the rotunda. The floor was well waxed and almost perfect for an enjoyable two hours of dancing. Excellent music was furnished by a Hawaiian quintet club, and in one corner was a long table laden with refreshments, mostly of a cooling nature. Mrs. H. A. Isenberg was present as sponsor for the dance, and assisted in making the affair a successful social event. A number of townfolk, after inspecting the building, and several dances and then gave way for others. Several of the passengers of the S. S. Gaelic, as well as her commander and officers, paid a visit to the building and looked on at the dancing for a brief
